Tampa Bay Association of Black Journalists

Dear Communicator:

As an African American media or communications professional in the Tampa Bay area, you're someone we'd like to know better.

We are the Tampa Bay Association of Black Journalists, a non-profit chapter of the National Association of Black Journalists, dedicated to building unity and strength among the area's African-American media personnel.

In the past, the group has organized media access workshops, student instruction programs, award shows and more. We'd like for you to become part of the chapter, to help ensure the success of these projects and enjoy some positive peer networking.

Please fill out the enclosed application and send it back, along with a $25 check or money order for one year's membership dues.

It's the first step in helping us all to make a difference.

Sincerely,

Eric Deggans, chapter president
